Singapore, 20 May 2016 – The Building and Construction Authority will be conferring six companies (two developers and four builders) with the Quality Champion (Platinum) award, the highest award under the Quality Excellence Award this year.

2. The BCA Quality Excellence Award was launched in May 2013 to recognise developers and builders for their commitment and achievement in delivering high quality homes. The award aims to raise the profile of leading progressive developers and builders who have embraced workmanship excellence through quality assurance programmes and delivered high quality projects consistently. It is also to encourage more developers and builders to set high quality standards for their projects and improve the image of the industry. The assessment is based on the following criteria during the qualifying period from 2011 to 2015:

- a. Number of residential units committed and certified under Quality Mark
- b. Quality Mark¹ tiered rating performance
- c. CONQUAS² performance

[Please refer to details in the Annex]

3. “It takes conscious effort and commitment to push forth a quality-driven agenda in the built environment. BCA is pleased to give out the Quality Excellence Award in recognition of the efforts to provide high building quality standards by progressive developers and builders. We would like to thank all the winners for their strong support and dedication over the years, and we strongly urge many others to follow suit in helping to raise Singapore's building quality standards," said Dr John Keung, Chief Executive Officer of BCA.

¹ The BCA Quality Mark (QM) for good workmanship scheme was launched in 2002 to meet the rising expectations of homeowners for quality homes. It sets the standard for workmanship quality in homes.

² The BCA Construction Quality Assessment System (CONQUAS) was developed by the BCA in co-operation with major public sector agencies and various leading industry professional bodies to measure workmanship quality in public and private building projects. CONQUAS is the de facto national quality yardstick for the industry and has been fine-tuned periodically to keep pace with changes in technology and quality demands.

4. The Quality Champion (Platinum), highest honour for the award, went to City Developments Limited (CDL) and Woh Hup (Private) Limited for the fourth consecutive year. To date, five out of the top 10 CONQUAS ranking private residential projects were developed by CDL.

5. Mr Grant Kelley, CDL Chief Executive Officer said, "At CDL, we have harnessed advanced technology and innovative construction methods in our quest to deliver high quality properties. We work closely with all stakeholders on each development, and we are committed to continuously improve quality. CDL was the inaugural recipient of the prestigious Quality Champion (Platinum) accolade in 2013, and it is indeed a great honour to be the only developer lauded with this award for four consecutive years."

6. Woh Hup was the builder for four projects in the top ten CONQUAS ranking. Besides its fourth consecutive win, Woh Hup (Private) Limited has committed and completed over 5,588 residential units of their recent projects under the Quality Mark scheme; out of a total 78,050 units committed to the Quality Mark scheme, they have the highest participation rate amongst the winners this year. Their projects include Sage, H2O Residences, and The Interlace.

7. "We are very honoured to receive the award for the fourth consecutive year and would like to acknowledge our partners, staff and workers for their support and hard work that make this achievement possible. Woh Hup will continue its efforts to achieve quality excellence by employing innovative construction methods and providing necessary training for staff and workers to ensure the highest quality work is achieved," said Mr Eugene Yong Kon Yoon, Executive Director of Woh Hup (Private) Limited.

8. CapitaLand Limited has risen to Quality Champion Platinum from Gold^{PLUS} in 2015, committing over 2,071 residential units to the Quality Mark scheme. The average CONQUAS score among its projects is 92.1 out of 100.

9. The industry average CONQUAS score has risen significantly from 80.6 points in 2005 to 88.5 in 2015. Currently, 95% of all new commercial and private residential buildings subscribe to CONQUAS which is a standard assessment and benchmarking system on workmanship quality of building projects. Private sector projects subscribe to CONQUAS on a voluntary basis.

10. Private residential developments that commit to the BCA Quality Mark are subjected to a 100% check on the workmanship quality of all internal finishes of every dwelling unit as well as on the water-tightness of all bathrooms. Individual units that meet specified workmanship standards and do not exhibit any signs of water leakages in bathrooms are each issued a Quality Mark certificate. About 50% of private residential projects subscribe to the Quality Mark scheme.

11. The winners will be receiving their awards at the BCA Awards ceremony on 26 May 2016 at Resorts World Sentosa. Details of the winners are in the Annex.
